

NUCOR STEEL SEATTLE, INC.

“Our goal is to take care of our customer.”

We will do this with the goal of being the safest, highest quality, lowest cost, most productive and most profitable bar mill in the world.

We are committed to doing this while being cultural and environmental stewards in the communities where we live and work.

Let's do it together.

Our customers are the people that buy and use our products, our employees, and our shareholders.

Our safety program is focused on individual responsibility, all employees involved in behavior based safety, providing proper training and resources to do the job safely, and supporting open communications where people report all unsafe conditions.

Our quality program is based on understanding our process capabilities, reducing the variability of our processes, and continually improving the quality of our products.

Environmental steward means complying with all legal requirements, striving to reduce and prevent pollution, and continually improving our processes and systems.

It's Our Nature.
